

COLLOQUIUM IN COMBINATORIAL THEORY, ROME

From September 3–15, 1973 there was held a Colloquio Internazionale sulle Teorie Combinatorie, in Rome sponsored jointly by the Accademia Nazionale dei Lincei (National Academy of the Lynx) of Rome, and the American Mathematical Society. The organizing committees designated by the two sponsors consisted of Professors Beniamino Segre (Chairman), Enrico Bombieri, Lucio Lombardo-Radice, Giovanni Ricci, Giuseppe Tallini, Guido Zappa, and Adriano Barlotti representing the Accademia, while Professors Marshall Hall, Jr., (Chairman), Gian-Carlo Rota, William T. Tutte and Bruce Rothschild were designated by the Society.

Approximately sixty-five invited participants were in attendance, from more than a dozen countries. The scientific program was divided into twenty-two sessions of invited talks, each being either of one-hour or thirty-minute duration. In addition, about 25 contributed short communications were delivered. All sessions were held in the Palazzo Corsini (via della Lungara, 10), a Palace which has been the home of the Accademia since 1883.

The opening session, on the morning of September 3, featured a welcoming address by the Colloquium Chairman, Professor Beniamino Segre, as well as addresses by Professors Marshall Hall, Jr., (Construction of combinatorial designs) and Kazimierz Kuratowski (My personal recollection connected with research on some topological problems).
