

EDITORIAL

Alan Polansky of Northern Illinois University is our new Associate Editor for Statistics. Alan is an experienced referee of statistics papers. In order to serve a broader audience, we have established an Associate Editorship in Applied Mathematics. Weiming Cao of the University of Texas at San Antonio is our first Associate Editor for Applied Mathematics. Weiming has extensive experience refereeing articles in applied mathematics. I have replaced Ted Mahavier who had graciously served as the Interim Coordinating Editor.

The MJMS belongs to you, our readers. The MJMS wants to respond to your needs. Please drop me an email telling me of additional fields for which we should have an Associate Editor. Is there a mathematical field which is not covered by other journals? Maybe you know of a brand-new field for which there is not yet a dedicated journal. Send me your ideas.

We need to get out the word about the MJMS. Our flyer was inserted in packets received by attendees of the AMS meeting in January in Atlanta. We want your ideas about getting our message out. Again, please contact me by email. This is your journal.
