EDITORIAL POLICY

The main purpose of The Annals of Probability, The Annals of Applied Probability and The Annals of Statistics is to publish contributions to the theory of probability and statistics and to their applications. The emphasis is on importance and interest; formal novelty and mathematical correctness alone are not sufficient. Also appropriate are authoritative expository papers and surveys of areas in vigorous development. All papers are refereed.

NOTICE

Manuscripts submitted for publication in The Annals of Probability should be submitted electronically. Authors should access the Electronic Journal Management System (EJMS) at <http://www.e-publications.org/ims/submission/>.
